

Breathing Mysteries

A narrative approach to spirituality in games

“To make them move, you should start from lightning
And not forecast the rhythm : rely on chance
Or so-called chance, for its bright emergence
Once lightning interpenetrates the dance.”

Robert Graves

#videogames

"A game is something that we play. A videogame is a digital playspace."

LEARN TO BRAVE NEW WORLDS.

Your kids already know how to use a computer if they've ever sped through hyperspace with Star Raiders™ or challenged magnetic force fields with the new Caverns of Mars.™

And when you use an ATARI® Home Computer you'll also discover how easily new worlds can open up for you.

ATARI has programs that help solve problems of everyday life, like Mortgage and Loan Analysis.™

Or educational programs like My First Alphabet,™ which is an easy-to-use and beautifully graphic way to teach letters and numbers to children.

In fact, the ATARI Home Computer is your whole family's vehicle to a more imaginative, exciting and manageable world. And the best part is that getting there can be so much fun.

Max Scheler

“What is vibration?

The activity of the nuance, which outlaws contrast, shames tragedy and dismisses drama. It is the vehicle of the frequencies, the life-blood of colour, and the pulse of life.”

Otto Piene

ANTRVM PLATONICVM.

Maxima pars hominum cecis immersa tenebris
Volutur assidue, et s' tulto letatur inani:
Adspice ut obiectis obtutus in heret umbris,
Vt VERI simulacra omnes mirentur amenty,

Ei s' Tolsit Vanâ ludantur imagine rerum.
Quam pauci meliore luto, qui in lumine puro
Secreti à s' Tolsit turba, ludibria cernunt
Rerum umbras recuas, expendunt omnia lauce:

Hi posita erroris nebula dignoscere possunt
Vera bona, atque alios ceca sub nocte latentes
Extrahere in claram lucem conantur, ac illis
Nullus amor lucis, tanta est s' rationis eges tu.

CC. Harlemensis Juv.
Sanctam Sculpsit,
Henr. Hondius excudit.
1604:

Hey, are you in there? Where have you been? I've been ringing all evening. You get back, and you just get into the shower? Hey, answer me! I know you're in there. You've not be the same for months now, what's the big deal?
